"Citizen" after Gentleman Malone Again.

RUSSELLVILLE, KY., June 1, 1865. EDS. PRESS. Dear Sir: In looking over the Press for May 30, I saw a communication dated "South Union, Kentucky, May 16, 1865," and signed "J. Wesley Malone." It appears that "Mr. J. W." has taken some exceptions to a letter from "Russellville,

I suppose he has some idea that he ca "bully" the quiet citizens of this county, as of yore, or why want the address of the writer? I believe, it is said in "Ireland" that every "dog has his day," and that will hold good in relation to J. Wesley Malone; he has had "his day" in Logan county, and the more quiet he observes the better it will be for him.

While he was having his day it was a hard series of days for the Union people of this county. I will take his propositions as they appear:
"1st, That I have been all my life a "gen-

As early as 1861, J. Wesley Malone was (and that too while acting in the responsible position in the State Guard) attempting to position in the State Guard) attempting to bully the Union men of this county. And it was a frequent occurrance to see him riding up and down the streets of Russell-ville, swearing that he would "kill some d—d Abolitionist." That line of conduct would entitle any one who pursued it to the title of "gentleman." I suppose it is also an act of gentility to go to the house of a high-toned gentleman, such an one as Dr. Bailey. of this county, and not only rol. Bailey, of this county, and not only rob him of all his effects that he could get away, but also to curse Mrs. B., and otherwise abuse her, and that too in the absence of her husband.

Even admitting that he was a confederate soldier at that time, is that sort of proceeding any mark of either the gentleman or true soldier? But it appears he was at that time not a soldier, but a conservator of the peace, being Judge of the Logan county court. If convicted upon the 1st charge that of being no gentleman, I charge him with being a "robber, and a cut throat generally." I say that J. Wesley Malone was actually a Colonel in the confederate army. He, as such commander, must be held re ible for the conduct of his command and it is a notorious fact that his cut throats" have been a terror to the people of Logan county for the last eight

J. Wesley Malone would no doubt fee insulted were any one to tell hin that in 1861 he, in company with some other gentlemen of his class, were engaged in kid-napping free negroes from this county, and oing them to southern markets, under pretense that he was taking them to work in hospitals" at Clarksville, Tenn., a crime alike against the general Government and the statutory laws of Kentucky. A "gentleman, and has been all his life!" I have known him a number of years, and while I have heard almost every charge made against him, from arson to murder. never yet knew one who had the audacity to call him agentleman.

But as self-praise is said to be "half scan dal," I suppose that is the light in which he desired his first proposition to be viewed.

2d. "Four years an honorable soldier of the Confederate States army."

I will simplay say his second proposition is a base falsehood. He left here in Februay, 1862, when the Confederate army ske-laddled from Kentucky, and at that time ne was not a Confederate soldier, and never had been, and, in fact, the people of this section never heard from him from that section never heard from him from that time until about two months ago, when he turned up in Christian county, claiming that he had been in the army, but was then a "bona fide" citizen of the United States, having been, as he reported, in Louisville and "taken the oath;" since which time he, at the head of a sett of "scape gallows," has been running at "loose ends" in this section of country, striking terror to the hearts of of country, striking terror to the hearts of honest men throughout the entire region. If he was engaged in honorable warfare, why not arrest and try by court martial his second in command, Major Baker, who on the 9th day of March last, went to the cuse of Mr. Woodward, at Auburn, and robbed him of all the money in his posses-sion, and threatened to kill him on the spot, but finally released him with the under-standing that if in two weeks, when he returned, he would not furnish him sever thousand dollars, death would be his por-tion. Such proceedings as that tolerated by the chief officer, and he an honorable soldier. "Oh, consistency thou art a jewell," and so is honor among "J. W. Malone's

"3d. Now a bona fide citizen of the United By reference to the second section of a By reference to the second section of a proclamation by the President, dated Washington, May 29, 1865, which shows conclusively that J. Wesley Malone is not a citizen of the United States Government, or else, if he had no commisson and did not belong to the Confederate States' army, he is an outlaw and cut-throat, a "gentleman of the road," and is not entitled to as much respect as the negroes he allured much respect as the negroes he allured from home in 1861 to sell into slavery. I see he seriously objects to being classed with "Harper," and introduces United States shoulder-straps as a proof that he is an honorable returned soldier. While I do not wish to cast any imputations upon the military authorities, I think Gen. Murray could be spending his time to better advantage for the interest of the Government than by endorsing for J. Wesley Malone's

Gen. Murray's staff: If Capt. Scott is not able to take care of his reputation, he should then notify the State in general orders that he has employed J. Wesley Malone, the "gentlemanly Confederate colonel," as his advocate. I should be pleased to see the "Union men" of this section of country who would endorse for you, J. W. Gen. Murray has done it, but I know of no other man in this district, either military or civil, who would do anything of the kind. If Mr. J. W. wishes to continue the correspondence, we will meet him upon any and all issues he may present, so as to afford him an opportunity to furnish "A Citizen" and the world statements of his many acts of gentility and his claims to honor. As before said, if John wishes to continue the contravers he agent to get into our contravers he agent to get int controversy he was so eager to get into, our pen is ever ready and willing to do its of-fice. Jas. Harlan, Jr., Couldn't Hold his Peace any Longer-He was Compelled to Speak it.

[Correspondence of the Union Press.]

FRANKFORT, June 3, 1865. DEAR PRESS: Last evening, at the Court House, James Harlan, Jr., made the first of his intended series of addresses in this dec., were the burden of his remarks: "No one," said he, "would go farther than he would in the support of the Constitution and equal rights. I am for the white man and the maintenance of civil authority; I am opposed to the amendment act, for I consider that each State has the right to manage its own peculiar institutions in its own way. Why, I would ask, should this privilege be denied us? Were not States first formed separately and independently of each other, and did they not thus exist in harmony long before the Constitution was formed? In forming the Constitution it was expressly declared and decided that the States did not yield their individual sovereignty but for all time to come State rights should be guaranteed to them. Gentlemen: I am for the Constitution and the laws—but then I would ask: If Ohio, Indiana and Iilinois should deelare and insist that old Kentucky should abolish slavery, would that act make it binding upon us to do so? If not, then in God's name I would ask how any number of States can compel us to? Look at the state of our country at the present time! We are controled, governed, and run over by a set of abolition fanatics; Charles Sumner, Williaw Lloyd Garrison, and Fred. Douglass are the leading spirits. I have been told the last two years that I must hold my peace—but I can hold my peace—I must and will speak out and use strong language too. Is not the order of the day and night? We are told that peace has come—but how are we to have peace but by succumbing to military authority. We have rights as freemen and we will maintain them. What if this state of things is carried out, is to be our future? We are told by Henry Wilson, Robert Dale Owen, and others, that in consulting with the blacks in the Northern and Eastern States, and in Canada, that is their wish to live South; that this climate is most congenial to them, and their early associations States, and in Canada, that is their wish to live South; that this climate is most congenial to them, and their early associations and affinities would draw them here. I doubt not this will be the result. The Gulf States will not tolerate them and they will be found dead in the swamps and by-places, and they will be driven to the old Border States, and we shall be overrun by the nigger! Then working men of Kentucky what will be your fate? Why, wages will be reduced to little or nothing. The nigger will steal his ham in the night and then offer to work for 25 cents per day. And how in God's name can you compete with this? I tell you, fellow-citizens, we are to be reduced to the level of the nigger unless we heatir ourselves and counteract the Abwe bestir ourselves and counteract the Ab-olition tide which is setting against us."

If Mr. Harlan wishes to enlighten his country upon the Constitution, State Rights and Liberty, which he harps so much upon, 'twould be well far him to propose debating these subjects, for it is plainly discernable that he of all others needs to have his eyes apointed with the eye salve of truth ointed with the eye salve of truth.

Guerrillas Captured by Capt. Brown--Lawrenceburg R. beis Not Yet Conquered.

| For the Union Press.]

LAWRENCEBURG, June 2, 1865. EDS. PRESS: Capt. L. D. Brown, of Co D, 54th Kentucky mounted infantry, has within a few days, captured several guerrillas in Anderson county. Among those captured in Anderson is Samuel D. Tro-man, a brother of the noted robber guerrilla eader Ben. Troman, who, with his gang of rogues, has been a terror to this community for some years or more. Capt. Brown also captured in Franklin county, near Frank-fort, on the night of the 31st of May, three young men of very respectable parentage, who are charged with belonging to a guerrilla band who have very recently been engaged in some extensive robberies. One of he party who was captured first, by the ame of Carry, informed on these young nen, told their whereabouts and how the ould be taken, and how many pistols the had, etc, which all turned out to be true They were captured with his assistance, and the very property found in their possession that he had described; but unfortunately he made his escape while the squad under Capt. Brown were securing the three whom they were in pursuit of. Carry says these men were a part of the party who some weeks ago robbed and destroyed the some weeks ago robbed and destroyed the cars near Cincinnati, Ohio, on the Ohio and Mississippi railroad, when the Adams Express Company's safe was robbed of a large amount of money. The names of the young men are: Williamson, McKee and Moony, all born and raised in Franklin county, within a few miles of Frankfort, and have but very recently gone into the business. Capt. Brown deserves great credit for his

Capt. Brown deserves great credit for his energy in hunting up the pilferers. He has done more in killing, capturing and running off these scoundrels than any other man could have done in this county. He and his men are thoroughly acquainted with the country and know he have with the country, and know how to hunt them and find them, and he should by all means be kept here as long as he remains in the service. Many of the returned rebel soldiers are not yet sufficiently humbled, and still worse rebel sympathizers are openly boasting that just as soon as the bayonets are removed then they will show the Union men who will rule this county. Such is the talk of rebels in this community. These things ought to be looked to strictly. UNION FOR EVER.

Common Sense, Justice, and Right.

With such power as they fain would have, their oaths would be but incentives to crimes which would only be excelled by resident rebels during the war! 51/2 A. M.

An unusually large congregation assem An unusually large congregation assembled Sunday evening at the Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, the attraction being a special discourse to be delivered by Mr. Beecher upon the above subject. After the usual preliminary services the reverend gentlemen announce his text from Proverbs xxviii, 20—22 inclusive.
"A faithful man shall abound in bless ings," etc.

Mr. Beecher said a faithful man was evidently an honest and upright man—one who obeyed the laws of thrift and economy while by in all his business relations; and while by "him who hastened to be wealthy" was evcounty, preparatory to his election (?) to the next General Assembly. The Constitu-tion—illegal military arrests—State rights, &c., were the burden of his remarks: "No therefor. It was this kind of hastening to-ward wealth which implied destruction— destruction moral, and destruction in business—crashes, panies and the like.

New York, during the past week, has been subject, more than all things, to the perplexity of fluctuations in value. Not even this civil war, the successful termin ation of which was now in sight—not even the operations of Grant or of Sherman could maintain their interest beside the price of gold, and the danger of panic and commercial failure. In Wall street and William street there had been ground and lofty tumbling; failures had been the great topic of conversation, and the wildest excitometric that street had seen the great topic of conversation, and the wildest excitometric that seen that seen the great topic of conversation. sovereignty but for all time to come State conversation, and the wildest exception of the solution and prevailed. Such fluctuations demanded especially the careful attention of the young. He had seen many panies in the solution and Illinois should declare and insist that cld Kentrely should abalish clavered.

lowed excitement. Then came what might be called diseased hope; and this was the root of gambling, where the desire of wealth was inordinate and its accumula-tion was not based upon a fair rendering of equivalents. Here came in what the wise man called "the evil eye" of him who hasted to make money. Men would undertake to fix fictitious values; and fortunes would be suddenly made and as suddenly lost. The desire for wealth was not of itself necessarily improved. On the other hand it cessarily immoral. On the other hand in was a source of great good and of great influence in society. It was only when this desire became inordinate, when avaries took the place of a just appreciation of value, that it became reprehensible in the

In this state of mind men would begin to put upon the regular course of business enormous bubbles; companies would spring up like musketoes in a Southern swamp, and like them, admirably adapted to purposes of suction, the most ingenious appeals would be made to the cupidity or the credulity of the men; and by and by the bubble would burst, and whoever had invested would burst with it. Now, the success of such things implied somethin stable, just as the presence of counterfe coin implied the existence of real value But, alas, there was no evil to which men might not be hired by a prospect of gain. So when the company was about to collapse, the engineer would very quietly retire from the blow pipe or had it to somewhat we have the conversity the discounter of the conversity of t body else. It was not generally the directors and officers of these companies who lost, nor were they especially anxious in general to find out who it was. Then there was the game of what was called, for lac of a better name, sharp practice, just a ster lower in the scale of morality—the whole system and engineering of craft. Fortune were made with fabulous rapidity; and nen had come to think that of all things he art of money-making was governed b o natural laws.

Mr. so-and-so, they said, had made an in-calculable fortune. Incalculable to him no doubt. He never did calculate. He never could, if he tried. Mr. so-and-so was just beginning to live; and such talk as this we were likely to hear just because the world did not know the difference between honest genius and downright gambling. All flesh was grass, and all New York flesh in particular. Wall street and William street were peculiar. There fortunes were made to-day and lost to-morrow. To-day man walked, strutted, or whatever else might be called. He was worth a half mil-lion; and everybody did him reverence. To-morrow he hid his head. He had lost in all—every cent--and little boys might peep round the corner and call him a fool with impunity. The difference was just this; in one case he was an ass loaded with sacks; in the other case an ass without the sacks. Now, it was by pictures like the foregoing that young men were misled. They forgot that there was any law in these things, and were apt to regard these financial revolutions as mere atmospheric accidents.

Mr. Beecher then proceeded to lay down the law of business as the law of equity, o equivalents, of rendering just service of just compensation. The working of this law were embraced under two heads, viz production applying to agriculture and manufactures; and distribution, applying to trade and commerce. In either case, gain based upon a fair and accurate calculation from existing facts fell under the head of legitimate; while that based upon luck, upon diseased hope, was, in reality, gambling, and it made no difference in a moral sense whether it was done at a faro The transaction was not honest. It was not based upon the law of rendering a just equivalent for value.

The speaker then explained the law of value, maintaining that value was regulated by the amount of real thought or brain work embodied in the production. Professional men were and should be better paid than laborers. It was a law of value. It paid to have brains; and it ought to pay. The speaker then exhorted his congrega-tion, and especially young men to beware of trusting to luck to cultivate the good old fashioned virtues of industry, temperance, and frugality, and abide by its results, remembering that "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he hath."

CURIOUS DISCOVERY.—Glass may even be in full fellowship with honest and patriotic men!

The consequence was, that no one cared or thought about it, and the idea has been suffered to lie nearly bar-ren, though capable of being turned to great account. Let any amateur mechanic make the experiment, and he will be surprised at the ease with which this seemingly intrac-table material may be cut and fashioned to his will.

The two Houses were startled Saturday whilst in everying seesion at suddenly receiving evening session at suddenly receiving message from the Governor vetoing th message from the Governor vetoing the militia bill on the grounds of the repeal of the five dollar tax and the exemption clauses, they were however immediately rectified and the two clauses inserted and then they were approved, so it becomes a law and is very near the same as that of the last years militia bill. It seems strange and unaccountable that when the party was so sure of gaining their point that they should have suddenly dropped the subject. It is to be hoped it will be pressed to some advantage this coming election.

Hon. Harrison Taylor, Speaker of the lower House, this morning delivered a most feeling speech, in which he reviewed the past session and its associations. As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are in eased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and are hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is sened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place. Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is that the person is obliged to clar his throat in the morning of a thick or slimy nuceus, which has fallen from he head during the night. noble and benificent country, that so long protected and defended the people of the misguided South in all their constitutional rights. That he will receive an impartial trial and stern but righteous judgment, no patriot need doubt.

The "Veteran Observer," of the N. Y. Times (idential we tancy with M of the Cincinnati Gazette and a distinguished writer on Political Economy,) is thus discussed by a correspondent of the Anti-Slavery Standard:

IT IS TIME TO BURY THE "NEGRO" IN THE The thinking mind of this country has The thinking mind of this country has been and is very much exercised on the question of "what shall be done with the negroes for their good and for the welfare of the country?" Every honest man acknowledges that as we have caused their emancipation we must do our part in fitting them for freedom. Can they be made as industrious and valuable as other members of society? It is not to be denied that a of society? It is not to be denied that a large number of intelligent people think that they are rather inferior, or, at any rate, from their degraded condition, can never be made valuable citizens, except in a state of recognized subordination to the whites. There is another large class of people who think that, if they can be raised up, it must, think that, if they can be raised up, it must, in any event, be a slow process; and probably the very apostles of negro elevation will admit in their inner mind that the problem of fitting negroes for a valuable and intelligent citizenship is a hard one. In my opinion the problem will be solved much more easily than many suppose; because God will solve it, as He has solved the war, by natural laws applied in His Providence to the case. I do not agree with either of the ultra schools of negro philosophy. The school of Wendell Phillips, and of many who did not hold his extreme and of many who did not hold his extreme views, hold in substance that the negro can be put upon an equality with the whites. Legally he may be, but socially he never will be. It is simply an impossibility. The will be. It is simply an impossibility. The Ethiopian cannot change his skin, nor the leopard his spots. It is entirely true that a black man may be elevated morally, intellectually, and politically, so that we shall readily and cheerfully admit his equality in these particulars. A Christian and a Republican will deny no rights, before the law, to any man. But it will not change the natural facts. The negro carries with him ear-marks, visible to all, and ries with him ear-marks visible to all, and he must remain a negro. But there is another fact which, for this generation, works the same thing. A race of degraded, darkminded men, cannot be elevated in one generation. They must not only be freenot only educated—but there are other things wanting. They must have the habit of elevation; they must lose the memory of the scourge; they must feel that no superior race looks down upon them.—"Veteran Observer," in N. Y. Times, May 22.

By clearing away the rubbish that obscures this questi n, "what shall be done with the negro," the *nswer is plain to every honest mind—Let him alone? Stand every honest mind—Let him alone? Stand from between him and the sun. If he is not strong enough, with the bayonet in his right hand and the ballot in his left, to bear the height and glory of our Western civilization, let him die. Why do more for Africans than Irishmen? If we welcome all foreigners alike to this continent, to develop its boundless resources, and make or longitude mer. resources, and make for themselves a home in whatever latitude or longitude may seem to them best, if we extend to all the rights, immunities and wireless of sittings of themselves of sittings of themselves of sittings of themselves of the second second extend to all the rights, immunities and privileges of citizens of a republic, why should Africans demand any special legislation or protection at our hands?

"Hath not a negro eyes? Hath not a negro hands, organs, dimensions, senses, affections, passions; fed with the same food, hurt with the same weapons, subject to the same diseases, heated by the same means, warmed and cooled by the same Summer. warmed and cooled by the same Summer and Winter" as a white man is? Then why not subject him to the same code of laws. morals and social customs that govern other races? Henceforth let us legislate for men; we have puzzled ourselves long enough in making special laws for the black

we have done for them what we have done for no other foreign nation, brought them to our shores at our own expense; by special statutes guarded them from the dan-gers of freedom, jury trial, free schools and marriage; infused our best blood into their veins; concentrated the thought of Church and State, priests and lawgivers, to ex-pound our creeds and codes touching their pound our creeds and codes touching their rights; we have done our very best to christianize and civilize the black man, and all to no purpose. "He is a negro still, his ear marks are visible to all," and we stand to-day seemingly as befogged on the question of his rights as did fathers in the Constitutional Convention of '87. Assuming that for the last generation we have done the best we know how, suppose we modestly best we know how, suppose we modestly resign our work, and allow the negro to try the experiment of self-government—the solution of the "difficult problem" that has so long puzzled the nation. Perchance he may prove our failure the result of our ignorance and not of his low organization. norance and not of his low organization, and by nicer laws he may reveal the "ear marks" of a common humanity, visible to the most prejudiced "observer." The "yeteran of the Times" need have no fears that it will take the state of the stat that it will take a long time to solve this problem. When we look at Frederick Douglass, but yesterday a trembling, cringing slave, to-day a self-poised, noble man, an able editor, an eloquent orator, gracing alike the forum and the fireside, it is absurd to say "it will take a generation" to develop the manhood of his race, Who that has seen the hauteur of the beautiful mulatto women of the South, can imagine they remember with humility "the scourge and degradation of the slave?" scourge and degradation of the slave?"

Does not the memory of injustice move us rather to the proudest scorn, and sting us quickly to an elevation that no ordinary experience of life can give? Would you know the power of yonder quiet brook, now gently hastening to lose itself in the great ocean—dam up its waters and try to hold it by your will. So man is mightier in his wrongs than in the possession of his unquestioned rights. Nature asserts herself with wonderful quickness and power when an artificial pressure is suddenly removed. Remember that freedom, dignity, and self-respect are native to the soul of man, and liberty his normal condition. By an eternal law of reaction that governs a like matter and mind, the aggregated years and powers that have held the black man at our feet once removed, he will quickly rise to diviner hights than the proudest Saxon holds.

Saxon holds.

As to social equality, which the "veteran observer" declares impossible, why assert that a people like us, born under the most liberal institutions among nations, should be incapable of substituting principle for projudice.

be incapable of substituting principle for prejudice?
Foreign nations have no prejudice against color. In the higest circles in London and Paris one meets black men and women as equals. Our Southern chivalry have no prejudice against color, as their affiliation in the nearest relations attest. There is none in nature; children accustomed to black nurses love them as dearly as their mothers, and safely nestle in their arms.

Social equality is the result of education, refinement, and wealth. Wendell Phillips rennement, and wealth. Wendell Phillips does not propose to thrust into our first circles the Englishman from the coal mines of Cornwall, the Irishman from his potato patch in Kilkenny, nor the negro from the everglades of Florida, but why should the ignorance and vulgarity of these classes exclude from our elite circles such of their countrymen as Lord Lyons, James T. Erady, a Douglass, or a Dumas? E. C. S.

THIS VOLUME CONTAINS THE ACT OF JUNE 2078.

I 1884, with the amendments made by the act of March 2d, 1885, introduced into the act of June 20th. And wherever the amendment struck out any part of the previous act and substituted new provisions, these new provisions are introduced in their appropriate places instead of the parts repealed by the amendment.

By the act of June 20th, various earlier acts of Congress relating to the collection of the revenue were revived and made a part of the excise-law. These acts and parts of acts, so far as they are applicable, are also inserted in this volume, and printed immediately after the sections by which they were incoporated into the existing law.

This arrangement of the law, designed as the basis of a Manual for the use of tax-payers and officers engaged in the administration of the lar, will, it is thought, be found equally trustworthy and far wore convenient than a work which should contain only the various! we settire in the form in which the stard on the statue book. The rates in the table of duties correspond to the rates fixed by the act of March 3d, 1855.

The rulings were prepared at the office of Internal Revenue, and are based mainly upon letters written from the office upon the various subjects treated.

The Press is the Official Paper of the United States for the State of Kentucky and the Southern portion of Indiana and

There seems to be one universal opinion in regard to the propriety of uniforming our city police, and that is in favor of the proposition. Every consideration of public safety, and of efficiency on the part of those npon duty urges upon the General Council the necessity of passing such an ordinance. There is another reform also, in our police system very greatly needed. Under the present organization our watchmen are di-vided in duty between the day and night; and their hours of service are so divided as to admit of a long period each morning and evening, during which we have no watchmen whatever on duty. If a force could be placed on watch say eight hours and then relieved by another force—the two forces thus watching eight hours alternately, the plan would be found to work here, as it does in all the larger cities, most admirably. By all means, we should at once resort to the uniform system, the good results of which will soon be practically demonstrated.

It was rumored at Frankfort yesteron that a serious affray had occurred at Mr. B. B. Sayers' Military Insti-tute, on the Lawrenceburg pike. It seems tute, on the Lawrenceburg pike. It seems that two of his pupils named Emery and Egarton, the former from Richmond, Ky, and the latter from Winchester, Ky., got into a quarrel, high words and then blows, in which Eginton was getting the best of it; Emery said if Eginton would release him he would quit; on Eginton doing so, Emery drew a revolver and fired, one ball taking effect in the right elbow of Eginton and then drew a knife and stabbed Egarton, cutting him in the left breast in close proximity to the heart. We could not learn the imity to the heart. We could not learn the extent of the injuries. Emery immediately fled and was not caught at last accounts, The whole trouble was on account of a young lady.

LOOK OUT FOR HIM-An individual pretending to have the exclusive right to purchase supplies for the army that is en route for Louisville. At one house we learn of this person priceing sugar-cured hams, and representing that he wished to purchase several hundred casks, and at another he wanted to contract for tobacco and various other articles. The thing is so perfectly ri-diculous and such an open-faced attempt to swindle that we hope that our business men will not be picked up by this would-be confidence man. Our military police should be on the alert for these scoundrels that follow this large army.

FOR JUDGE OF COURT OF APPEALS,—The friends of Maj. Gen. Ward are desirous that he should become a candidate to supply the vacancy on the bench of the Court of Appeals, occasioned by the removal of Judge Bullitt. They name him as one whose ex-perience fits him for the position and whose oyalty has been proven on the battle field. Brevet Maj.-Gen. W. T. Ward, now and for the last year commanding 3d division 20th corps, has been with Sherman in all his marches and fights during that time. He lives in Green county, where he has been actively engaged in the practice of the law for the last 35 years before the war. He raised the first brigade—South of Camp Dick Robinson, and has been in the field fighting since August 1861.

CHILDREN'S FAIR.—The young girls con-nected with Unitarian Society will hold a fair in the Sunday school room of their Church, on the corner of Fifth and Walnut streets, on Wednesday evening, for the benefit of the Widow's and Orphan's Home, They have prepared a number of beautiful and tasteful articles, and solicit the generous patronage of the public. Tickets of admission 25 cents, doors open at 8 o'clock.

MAN SHOT AT A PICNIC.-At the picnic held at Knapp's Garden yesterday a man named Ehrhart was shot and mortally wounded by the guard stationed there. It ems that he was riding a horse over forbidden ground when the guard ordered him to halt, which he refused to do. He did not heed a second or third order when the guard fired, the ball going through the lungs.

CIRCUS,-Read the advertisement of the Hippoolympiad in another column. This great institution is very highly spoken of by the press in the cities where it has performed. We must say that the business men, Messrs. Stevens and Rose, are as nice gentlemen as we have met for some time, and if they are fair specimens, the whole establishment will do.

A good number of the newly arrived troops were out looking at the city yester-day, and unwittingly got on some of the for-bidden streets, when they were surprised to find themselves "gobbled" by the Provost Guard. In most instances they were sent back to camp, with a caution not be caught again in the same locality.

The military authorities were busy patrol guard that is to be placed on duty in the city. Two houses on Hancock street belonging to Jinnie Laws were taken pos-session of, and we understand, six hundred men will be quartered in them.

LOUISVILLE, June 5, 1865. Messes. Editors: It appaears that Gen. Palmer has another difficulty on his hands, all about "that everlasting nigger," and although I do not think it good policy to encourage military interference in civil affairs, still the argument in the morning Journal seemed so lame that I could not forego the desire to call your attention to the pith and back-bone of that argument, which we quote as follows:

"There is a process clear and positive, by which the master of Hardin can be made to perform his lawful duty."

which the master of Hardin can be made to perform his lawful duty."
Now sir, why didn't Judge Johnston take the proper steps to make Hardin's master do his lawful duty? And if it was found that the laws would not hold good upon the master how could the same law hold upon the slave? If the negro had committed a crime against the civil laws for which the court sent him to the work-house, I should condemn any interference by the should condemn any interference by the military as an act of usurpation, calculated to produce irritation and bad feeling, but this case appears to be an act of petty spite and tyranny on the part of the master, pur-posely to bring on a difficulty. Yours respectfully,

WOODLAWN RACES-FIRST DAY .- There was a very large attendance at the Wood-lawn Race Course yesterday. The race was a sweepstake for colts and fillies, three years old, $100 subscription, $50 forfeit, with $250 added by the Association. There were four entries, viz:

R. A. Alexander's br. c., by Lexington, dam by Yorkshire, Frank Sherritt's b. f., by Knight of St. George, dam by Glycora. saac W. Pennock's b. c., "Jockrisse," by Vandal, dam by Traveler.

V. S. Buford's ch. c., by Ringgold, dam by Glencoe, by Dammoth. In the pools Alexander's entree was the favorits, selling for $100, while Pennock's entree, the next favorite, sold for $30—the others as low as $5. At the tap of the bell all four made their appearance on the track and were stripped for the race. After strip-ping the entree of Sherritt appeared to bet-ter advantage than any other and went up in the peak to second.

FIRST HEAT. At the tap of the drum they all got off together, and quite a run made for the lead at the first quarter. Sherritt passed the quarter-pole about half a length ahead of Alexander—Buford and Pennock close up. This position was maintained to the half-mile-pole when Alexander took the lead. This position was maintained to the half-mile-pole, when Alexander took the lead, closely followed by Sherritt. There was no effort made to change until the quarter stretch was reached, when Sherritt attempted to regain his lost ground, but was easily shaken off by Alexander, who came 'ome an easy first, Sherritt two lengths behind, the other intrinsical the day. The latest the control of the strength of the st the others just inside the flag. Time 1:4814.

The second heat was a repetition of the first, Alexander winning easily, Sherritt being thirty feet behind, the others just un-der the flag. Time 1:47½. There will be a great race to-day between Loadstone and Asteroid, two-mile heats, for a purse of $600. We were glad to see so many ladies on the track yesterday. We hope more will turn out to-day. They are admitted free.

DUPREZ & GREEN'S MONSTER MINSTRELS A large and fashionable audience greeted the first appearance of this troupe last evefrom the hall well pleased, saying it was the best troupe that ever visited this city. The singing of J. E. Green and Gustave Bideaux is truly grand, and must be heard to be appreciated. The ever welcome Mocking Bird song by the former, and the Burlesque Opera by the latter should be heard by all. The performance was the best that has taken place here in a long time. The Goddess of Liberty by Frank Hart was truly grand and should be introduced nightly. The jokes, witticisms, &c., were entirely new and were received with were entirely new and were received with rounds of applause. They have lost none of their former fame, but added new laurels to the wreath. They are unquestionably an excellent combination of talent, and deserve the great success they meet with. MAN KILLED AT A PICNIC .- Yesterday a picnic was given on the Salt river road for the benefit of a church. Everything was passing off pleasantly until the arrival of fifteen or twenty young men from the country, who, as soon as they entered the grounds, commenced cutting up in an output of the same than rageous manner. A gentleman from this city by the name of Joseph Norton was standing at a table with a little boy partaking of refreshments, when this party com-menced a difficulty. He remonstrated with them, when one of the crowd named Henry Weisert drew a revolver and commenced hooting at him. Norton attempted to get out of the way, when the whole crowd com-menced shooting at him. He turned and attempted to defend himself, and perhaps did shoot once, but was instantly shot down and almost riddled with bullets, receiving four shots in the head and seven through the body. He expired in a few minutes. We learn that Mr. Norton was a very so ber, clever man, and has been employed for some time as a private watchman on one of our business blocks. He leaves a family,

During the melee four or five bystanders were shot. Henry Weisert, who commenced the shooting, was shot in the mouth, a lady named Lena E. Schaler was shot in the calf of the leg, and John Grash was shot in the thigh was shot in the thigh.

The affair was one of the most outrage

The affair was one of the most outrageous we have ever heard of. A party of friends who were enjoying themselves at a picnic for the benefit of a house of worship were first insulted and then shot down by a party of ruffians almost within sight of the city. We hope every one of them will be arrested and brought to justice.

FUNNY.—Some time ago Mr. Fletcher, who keeps the Great Western Billiard Sa-loon, under the United States Hotel, announced a grand billiard tournament for Kentucky, to commence on the 26th of June. He has made all the preparations for the occasion, such as purchasing prizes, renting halls, &c. Judge of Mr. Fletcher's surprise last night on hearing a very vensurprise last night on hearing a very venerable-looking gentleman announce to a crowd of perhaps a dozen persons that the "Billiard Congress" of New York had decided that the billiard tournament for Kentucky would commence some time in October; that Mr. Fletcher's tournament was alloritingte the New Mr. Fletcher ber; that Mr. Fletcher's tournament was illegitimate, &c. Now, Mr. Fletcher con-tends that the "Billiard Congress," nor any other Congress, has not the right to inter-fere with billiards in the States. He thinks that each proprietor of a billiard saloon has a right to regulate his own private billiard business, subject to the Constitution of the United States. He also further states that the tournament at Wood's Theater will take place on the 26th of June, the venerable old gentleman, "Billiard Congress," and opposition billiard saloons to the contrary notwithstanding. He says, however, that if the "Society for the Amelioration of the Condition of the Sandwich Islands says his tournament is "illegitimate," he will take the matter under consideration. But as it is, the tournament, legitimate or illegitimate, will certainly come off on the

GIVING THE VETERANS THE PREFERENCE.—Throughout the country we perceive that the disposition is general in favor of giving our veteran soldiers, particularly those who have been disabled, the preference in filling offices and giving employment. It is a righteous principle, and needs no argument. It is not a difficult question to determine what the offices of the country would be worth now to anybody had not our veterans fought so bravely. We may never reward them as they should be rewarded, but we can as they should be rewarded, but we can try. If anybody knows of an office for which a capable, deserving veteran is striving, let him turn in and help him get it. To those who have taken little or no interest in the matter of the offices, we have simply thus much to say: It is a good time to put in practice a small part of what we have been preaching.

Old things have passed away; all things become new. New books are now to be opened. A new era in the American era has been reached; and he who cannot now realize, or is not willing to who cannot now realize, or is not withing to accept this great fact, would do well to re-tire to his closet, and confine himself to fu-nebrial meditations over the history of the dead past, or airy speculations upon the impossible future."

The Trial.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Several witnesses were called to-day to show the disloyalty of Leed Jenkins, a near relation of Mrs. Surrat; one of them said, after Jenkins lost a negro he abandoned all Union principles. Another said he was disloyal.

W. Evans, Presbyterian minister, said he saw Dr. Mudd go into Mrs. Surrat's house between the 1s' and 4th of March: he was rigidly cross examined by coursel for the defense and excused himself for his confusion of ideas and embarrassment by saying he had been almost crazy since the assassination of the President, Witnesses were produced to show Mudd was not at the National Hotel on the 3d of March, but at home.

The record of the previous day having peen read, the examination of witnesses was

Examination of Rev. W. B. Evans, pas tor of the Fifteenth street Presbyterian colored church of Washington, by Judge Advocate Holt—The testimony of this witness was to the effect that he was well acquainted with J. L. Jenkins. Knew his general reputation to be that of a disloyal man; that in 1861 and previous to that period he had pretended to be in favor of the Union; had known him to be outspoken and open in his sympathy with rebels.

He was slightly acquainted with the Dr. previous to that period; he had always pretended to be in favor of the Union; had known him to be open and outspoken in his sympathy with the rebeilion; he was slightly acquainted with Dr. Mudd about the 1st of March; while coming to Washngton the prisoner passed witness in the same direction, and entered the city just before witness; did not see the accused in the city on that occasion, neither saw him return nor know where he stopped in the city.

On cross-examination of the witness, con ducted by Mr. Campbell, the following evidence was adduced: Have been acquainted with Jenkins about 15 years; he preten-ded to be a Union man in 1860; but witness believed him a hypocrite; knew from his a tions that he was opposed to the Govern-ment; the actions consisted in his betting that the South would succeed and the country would go to ruin; didn't hear him use the expression but were heard from

REMAY NIMY WE GEN

Washington, June 4.—A special to the Tribune says: It is reported on good authority that Mr. Stanton has resigned. His resignation is not positively confirmed, but it is known that he has determined to leave the Cabinet very soon. There is a report affoat that this decision has been assisted by a violent collision between the President and Secretary, both of whom are strong-willed men, in which the latter indulged in his brusque manner, and the latter took occasion to inform him that he only was President of the United States. It is said there is not much in this, for the President assured a Major General yester-President assured a Major General yester-day that the separation about to take place was only induced by the prostration of Mr.

It is also rumored that Mr. Field, another assistant, is willing to accept some position

The difference of opinion existing be-tween Secretary Harland and Mr. Usher, his predecessor, is very considerable, and is assuming a serious form.

The new Secretary is examining in a very impartial manner the huge contracts which the retired officer signed just before leaving, and demanding that they be re-established on the principles of equity and honesty.

Against this rough criticism Mr. Usher protests in behalf of his clients, making the fight, it is understood, before the President.

The Interior Department consequently is considerably agitated just now. As one result of the complication, Judge Otto, Assistant Secretary, is leaving the department, and John Wilson, the new Third Auditor will succeed him.

OFFICE OF THE LOUISVILLE UNION PRESS, MOSDAY EVENING. June 3, 1865. There has not been much animation in the market to-day, and transactions were limited, owing in part to the derangements to trade by the withdra al of several of our packets temporarily from their legitimate trade by the necessities of the Government, demanding a large number of boats for the immediate transportation of troops. There is a slight decline in New York in bread-stuffs, and the market to-day was rather dull, and round lots of good flour were offered at a decline. Various letters have been received from points along the Tennessee and Alabama, notifying our merchants that shipments or con-ignments of cotton have been made to them from points as far South as Savannah, Tennessee, Deca-ter and Huntsville, Alabama, and Eastport. The same parties urgently request the merchants of Louisville to immediately send a packet up the Tennessee river, or else the trade will be diverted further North. The following from the Cairo correspondence of the Cincinnati Gazette, should demand prompt attention and action, or else the trade will be taken from this city:

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The War Department has ordered that the troops mustered out under General Order No. 94 are to be paid to the date at which they arrive at the designated State rendezvous, which date will be certified on the muster-out rolls by the mustering officer of the rendezvous.

The effect of this order will be togive the soldiers from five to twenty days' extra pay.

It has been proposed in the Cabinet to modify the amnesty proclamation so as to exclude from its benefits all rebels whose property is valued at $10,000 and upward. This modification will increase the exemption to $13,000 on the $20,000 basis. The property of only 35,000 rebes would be biasis of the valuation of the property in the South in 1860, and treating slave property as the south in 1860, and treating slave property as the foot of the canal.

The proposition has several warm advocates in the Cabinet, yet it is doubtful whether there will be any modification.

Gov. Brown, of Georgia, is quite docile.

In a conversation this morning, with the author of this paragraph, he thus defined the foot of the canal.

The month as the falls last evening there were but four feet water in the pass, and falling.

At Pittsburg yesterday, as we learn by our dispatches, the water was down to low water stage, with but three feet in the canal is now in a deplorable condition of a rise.

The canal is now in a deplorable condition of the vast accumulation, or deposit of mud that has settled the order to modify the amnesty proclamation so as to exclude from its benefits all rebels whose property is valued at $10,000 and upward.

This modification will increase the execution to $13,000 on the $20,000 basis. The property of only 35,000 rebes would be liable to confiscation, calculating on the basis of the valuation of the property in the South in 1860, and treating slave property as the foot of the canal.

ident of the United States, April 15, 1865." Copy Right Secured This beautiful engraving is designed to illustrate the passage of the spirit of the President to Heaven in the company of angels, who are represented as approaching him from the clouds, while in the distance is seen the shade of Wa hington waiting the appearance of the heavenly escort conveying the spirit of the President to the reward of the just. The for-ground contains, besides the body of our lamented Chief Magistrate, likenesses of thriteen persons who were present, among whom are some of our prominent statesmen and generals.

No pains have been spared to obtain and secure good and fait full likenesses of each individual represented. The work is executed by Max. Rosenthal, one of the best artists in the country. Size 18x23, and can be sent on the country. It will be to the interest of dealers and those desirous of taking the Agency, to send in their orders at once, before they are canvassed generally, thereby losing the algorithms.
